

How to get to us

The conference venue on the university campus is about 5 km from the main railway station and about 15 km from the airport and can be easily reached by public transport from there.

This also applies to travel by car as there are sufficient parking spaces available on the campus.

Arriving by train

Plan your journey with the Deutsche Bahn to Bremen central station (Hbf).

In cooperation with Deutsche Bahn, the BTZ Convention Bureau offers railway contingents for conference travellers. If you book early, you can get there a low-cost arrival and departure by train. Click here to book: Booking of the event ticket via the BTZ Convention Bureau.

Leave the station in direction south (city center). Taxis and street cars leave directly from the station forecourt. You pay about 15 euro for the onward journey to the University of Bremen. It is cheaper by street car: Line 6 in the direction of the University will take you to your destination in about 15 minutes. Get off at stop Universität/Zentralbereich.

Line 6 usually runs every 10 minutes, more frequently during rush hour.

Arriving by public transport

Always get off at stop "Universität -Zentralbereich", where the bus lines 21, 22, 28 and 31 also stop. The way from there to the nearby conference office (building GW2, room B 2.860) is signposted.

The fee has to be paid at the entrance. You can pay in cash (have the right amount ready; not all machines give change) or with a money card.

At the end of Enrique-Schmidt-Straße take the stairs to the left onto the boulevard, then turn left again into building GW2 and left again up the stairs to the conference office (room B 2.860).
